Eastern states hit by record November snow

By United Press International
In Washington it snowed so hard all the weathermen went home.

In New Jersey an eight-inch blanket of snow snarled traffic from the George Washington Bridge in the north to Cape May Point in the south.

In New York City snow and icy conditions caused the temporary closing of the Lincoln Tunnel, tying up thousands of homewardbound commuters.

In Pennsylvania, three middle-aged school teachers were killed when their car was rammed by a tractor trailer.

And in Connecticut, where there was only a slight accumulation of snow, a little boy died while sledding.

Thus the first major snowfall of the winter plowed into the middle Atlantic states and took its toll of dead and injured, hampered transportation on the ground and in the air, and dumped the greatest accumulation of snowfall for any November day in the Washington area since records were inaugurated in 1888.

The Baltimore area had up to 10 inches of snow. Philadelphia reported five inches with seven in the suburbs. Pittsburgh had seven inches and New York three.

At least 15 persons died as result of the multistate snowstorm.

Spawned in Kentucky the storm swirled steadily until late in the evening, rolled over the eastern seaboard, then gently subsided in middle New England. Only a light dusting of snow was reported in the Cape Cod area.

In Washington 11 inches of snow was reported at Andrews Air Force Base and Dulles International airport. As much as 12 inches was reported in the suburbs.

The record snowfall in the nation's capital triggered power failures throughout the region up to five hours, bogged traffic down generally and caused more than 1000 accidents of fender-bender variety. No serious injuries were reported.

At the Washington Weather Bureau one lone employee told a caller everyone else had gone home and he was getting ready to leave himself.

"Because of the snow," he added.

More than 100 flight cancellations were reported at Friendship International Airport at Baltimore.

Snow across Pennsylvania resulted in the death of at least eight persons.

New York City only had three inches of snow but freezing temperatures iced up expressways creating massive traffic jams. The Lincoln Tunnel was shut down twice Thursday night because of dangerous road conditions in the New Jersey side. Some commuters left the hundreds of New Jersey bound buses backed up at the tunnel and walked back into the city for the night.

A Minnesota member of Congress for almost 20 years, McCarthy announced Thursday that he would enter four to six state primaries next year as a critic of Johnson's Vietnam policy. At the same time, he agreed at a news conference that he might be forced aside by Kennedy supporters.

He said he would enter the primaries in Wisconsin, Oregon, California and Nebraska and would decide soon about New Hampshire and Massachusetts. His announcement was greeted by a mixture of silence, complaints and applause.

Sen. Thomas J. McIntyre, D-N.H., took what he called "a very dim view" of McCarthy going into New Hampshire and said Kennedy was the real threat to Johnson.

greeting cards, household goods, hand-decorated Christmas ornaments, kitchen items, curler bags, wastebaskets, and many other useful items will be featured at the sale, along with baked goods. McCarthy's candidacy may clear way for Robert F. Kennedy in '68

WASHINGTON UPI — Democratic leaders wondered today whether Sen. Eugene J. McCarthy's presidential candidacy was simply clearing the way for Sen. Robert F. Kennedy to challenge President Johnson in 1968.

McCarthy himself admitted that this could be the result of his pre-convention campaign even while denying that he was a "stalking horse" for Kennedy, younger brother of the late President.

A Minnesota member of Congress for almost 20 years, McCarthy announced Thursday that he would enter four to six state primaries next year as a critic of Johnson's Vietnam policy. At the same time, he agreed at a news conference that he might be forced aside by Kennedy supporters.

U.S., France clash over economic system cures

PARIS UPI — France and the United States clashed sharply Thursday over proposals to cure the world's economic system of its persistent ailments.

U. S. Undersecretary of State Eugene V. Rostow said in a sternly-worded statement to fellow finance ministers that the way to cure critical balance of payments difficulties facing the United States was for European countries to reduce their payments surpluses and help America meet the cost of its European countries to reduce their payments surpluses and help America meet the cost of its European defense system.

French Finance Minister Michel Debre, addressing the same meeting of the Organization for Economic Cooperation and Development OECD, said the only way to cure the problem was for the

Not guilty verdict

A jury in the Putnam Circuit Court returned a verdict of not guilty at 3:40 this morning in the trial of Anthony Pavach, 50, Indianapolis.

Pavach was charged with theft in connection with a break-in at the Putnam County Farm Bureau building, on Elizabeth Street, Oct. 29, 1966, when 18 chain saws were taken.

The case, which started Monday with Judge John E. Sedwick, of Martinsville, presiding as special judge, went to the jury at 5 o'clock Thursday afternoon.

No comment was heard from Kennedy, who was in New York. He indicated previously that he would not take sides in presidential primaries.

Whatever they say in public, party managers and candidates generally abhor bloodletting primary contests because they leave political scars and drain away money needed for general election campaigns.

Comments along that line were heard Thursday even while some Democrats sure to oppose McCarthy were saying that debate over Vietnam could contribute to the health of the party.

Neither the White House nor McCarthy's fellow Minnesotan, Vice President Hubert H. Humphrey, commented on the McCarthy announcement.

Another silent figure was Democratic National Chairman John M. Bailey, who recently told party leaders throughout the country that the party's ticket next year would be Johnson-Humphrey and that it was time to quell criticism of the President.

The leadership of the party in McCarthy's home state said he was a fine fellow but that Minnesota's National Convention would be committed to the renomination of Johnson and Humphrey.

Bob Myers speaker at Lions meeting

The Roachdale Lions Club held their meeting at 7:00 p.m. Nov. 28. Vice President L. Williams presided.

Lions Irwin and Ippenplatz were in charge of the program.

Bob Myers presented slides and pictures taken on a recent trip to Europe. They were very interesting.

His wife, Dorothy, was also present.

Prior to the meeting a fine supper was served.

The Lions Christmas party, when Santa Claus will arrive, will be held Saturday, Dec. 23rd.

Although Johnson may not be on the ballot in New Hampshire, he cannot escape the Wisconsin, Nebraska and Oregon primaries unless he does the unexpected and refuses to seek another term.

Republican Senate GOP leader Everett M. Dirksen, Ill., compared the McCarthy campaign to "a snowflake that falls on the bosom of a swift moving river."

Press defended against critics by UPI editor

SAN FRANCISCO UPI — Roger Tatarian, editor of United Press International, said today the press would jeopardize its own credibility if it yielded to critics who would suppress publication of unpleasant news.

In a speech before the California Press Association, Tatarian said there was particular danger in suggestions that "if it were not for press coverage, the racial strife of recent years would not have taken place, or might have been less serious or less intense."

The UP editor said that "those who are tempted to favor blackouts of riot news would be well advised to remember that there is something far more dangerous than even unpleasant truth—and that is the false rumor."

"And when you impede the free flow of news you make room for rumor."

"You also undermine public confidence in your medium when you try to suppress the unsuppressible."

As an example, he cited a rumor during last summer's Newark riots that a Negro cab driver had been beaten to death by police.

The rumor, he said, "added fuel to the already blazing fire." He added:

"The advocates of news suppression should remember one thing: The choice is not between all the facts and some of the facts, or between all the facts and none at all. The choice is between fact and rumor, and let no one delude himself as between the two, rumor is the most powerful incendiary."

The press, he said, has a responsibility to cover the advocates of black violence and to report what they stand for and how they are received.

If there has to be a choice between too much and too little coverage, he declared, the greater danger lies in too little.

Tatarian declared that the racial story is one "that needs attention every day, and not as seasonal story like the grape or cotton harvest."

If nothing else is clear," he said, "it is that white America still does not have a complete understanding of the problem, and there is much for the press to do to explain and to exhort."

"There is misunderstanding on both sides."

Two Hoosier youths
killed in Florida

BLOOMFIELD UPI — Two youths found shot to death along an ocean highway near Daytona Beach, Fla., Wednesday were identified tentatively Thursday as Daniel Schultz, 18, Bloomington, and William Sterling, 19, Odon, Ind.

Relatives said Sterling and Schultz and two other youths left this area last Friday.

Sheriff Dale Horn of Greene County said the four went to Florida looking for jobs.

Sterling's grandmother, Mrs. Oscar Sterling, said her grandson left with three other boys, including Schultz and two she did not know, to return to a Marine base at Camp Pendleton, Calif., where Sterling was stationed.

Florida sources investigating the slayings said two suspects were being questioned in another state and a third was being sought, but they did not identify the other state.

Horn was reported to be questioning two persons at the Greene County Jail here but he refused to confirm or deny and answered all questions by saying "no comment."

However, Horn said the boys were believed to have gone to what he termed "the promised land" — Florida — in search of work.

Daytona Beach authorities said a clipping from a Miami newspaper was on the person of one of the dead boys, an advertisement calling for an electronics technician or an electronics salesman.

Schultz had worked at the Bloomington plant of Radio Corporation of America, an electronics plant.

Schultz was the son of Maurice Schultz, R. R. 9, Bloomington. He has a sister who is a junior at Bloomington High School and a brother, Mike, in the Army.

Sterling's grandmother said to her knowledge none of the youth's family had heard from him since he left Friday. The youth's mother was identified as Mrs. Mildred Sterling of Odon.

The youths were believed to have been identified tentatively partly through a high school class ring found on one body.

The ring was inscribed "Eastern High School, Class of 1967."

Schultz was graduated from Eastern Green County High School last spring and the ring, which bore the initials "DS," was identified by school spokesmen as the one issued to Schultz.

Two fire alarms

City firemen answered two alarms Thursday and some damage was reported after each run.

At 6:40 p.m., the firemen went to the home of Mrs. Alice Mahoney, 1136 South Jackson Street, when grease became ignited on a kitchen stove. Damage was estimated at $35.

At 9:45 p.m., the firemen made a run to 500 Moore Court. They reported an overheated oil furnace in a house trailer occupied by Ed Brussel. Smoke damage resulted.

Meeting is held
by Franklin FB

"Tractor Safety, A Family Affair," was the title of the film shown at the Franklin Township Farm Bureau meeting Tuesday at the Roachdale Library basement. Following the members discussed the use of the new SMV (slow moving vehicle) emblems.

The evening meeting began with an oyster and chili soup supper, with Ray Britton giving the table grace.

Noble C. Fry, Township Chairman, presided and introduced Roger James who gave the devotions using the theme of Communism and Everett Lewis who presented two vocal numbers.

Guests were Mr. and Mrs. Clifford Hillis and Mr. and Mrs. Durbin O'Hair. Serving as hosts were Mr. and Mrs. Harold Young and Mr. and Mrs. Noble C. Fry.

Measles vaccine offered on county-wide basis

More than 2,000 Putnam school children will receive free measles vaccine when a county-wide immunization program is conducted next week.

Sponsored jointly by the Putnam County Medical Society and school officials, the mass vaccination is scheduled to begin Monday, December 4 and to continue through Friday. Assisting the doctors will be school nurses and volunteer helpers from parent groups.

Plans call for administering the free vaccine to school and pre-school pupils from the age of one through 12. School nurses have contacted each home in their area through an enrollment blank on which parents could list their eligible children and give consent for them to receive the shots.

While an attempt has been made to make the program available to all Putnam county within the age range, it is possible that some may not have been reached. Parents of pre-schoolers who are not already enrolled may participate in the program by taking their child to the school nearest them at the time given in the schedule below.

Doctors will be in Greencastle schools at 8:30 a.m. as follows: December 4, Miller school; December 5, Northsat Elementary; December 6, Ridpath school; December 7, Jones school.

Dates and times for county schools is as follows: December 4 at 8:30 a.m., Bainbridge school; December 5 at 8:30 a.m., Belle Union; December 6 at 10 a.m., Fillmore; December 7 at 11 a.m., Russellville; December 7 at 8:30 a.m., Reelsville; December 7 at 8:30 a.m., Cloverdale; December 8 at 8:30 a.m., Putnamville; December 8 at 8:30 a.m., Roachdale.

It is important that pupils and pre-school children be ready to receive the vaccine at the hours listed above since doctors will be limited in the time they can spend at each school.

Income tax increase is "dead duck" this year

WASHINGTON UPI — The Johnson administration's proposed income tax increase is dead for 1967 and there are even doubts about its chances for congressional approval next year.

The President's top financial advisers, Treasury Secretary Henry H. Fowler and Budget Director Charles L. Schultze, left the House Ways & Means Committee hearing room glumly Thursday night after failing to win their case for higher taxes.

They were unable to persuade the committee's chairman, Rep. Wilbur D. Mills, D-Ark., that higher taxes were needed to battle inflation, curb an anticipated federal budget deficit of $22.4 billion and brake steadily rising interest rates.

"I have not seen as yet any evidence that we are currently in any demand-pull inflationary situation which requires immediate action," said Mills, perhaps the single most influential tax-writer in Congress. He acknowledged, however, that "this could develop next year."

There were few clues as to whether the sailing would be any smoother next year for a tax increase, but 1968 is an election year and the lawmakers have a natural distaste for irritating the voters when up for reelection.

Three drivers arrested

Three local motorists were arrested by city police Thursday night and early this morning for traffic violations.

Rus-sells will have new front

Things are looking better in downtown Greencastle and for Rus-sell's Furniture Store located on the north side of the square on Franklin Street. Construction has just recently begun that will produce an entire new front of the establishment, making it more beautiful and convenient for shoppers.

The final style and design of the new front was chosen in November and plans were finalized not long ago. The front will be a new type visual with a window featured that will reach from the sidewalk to the ceiling along with all new aluminum and glass frontage in a light beige color which will show no windows from the second floor. New store lettering which will contrast with outside colors will also be included in the construction.

According to Russell Beatty, owner and manager of the firm, shoppers will be able to do all their shopping on one floor instead of two as they do now. "The only sad part about the whole thing is that the construction has started during the Christmas shopping season," he commented, "but we are equipped to still give customers expert and fast service."

"The main idea of the construction is to concentrate the entire line of furniture on one main floor for the convenience of the shopper," Beatty remarked.

hints from

by HELOISE CRUSE

Dear Heloise:

If you like to play the organ, here's a little hint to help keep the keys, push buttons and stops clean. And if you have ever had to have one cleaned, you'll know how much it costs!

I made a beautiful cushion for the bench and covered it with a piece of velveteen. Since I had some leftover, I cut a piece to fit the length of the keyboard and especially the button box.

I leave this strip of velveteen on top of my keyboard whenever no one is playing the organ. This not only keeps the moisture, dust and carbon off the keys (which turns them dark, but keeps the humidity out of the mechanical parts.

I wonder why all pianos have a let-down lid to fit over the keys, yet most organs that I have ever seen don't?

Amelia Harrison

Why didn't you write this hint in five years ago? Think of the repair bills you would have saved us budget-minded housewives. I know—I just had mine cleaned.

I think you're the greatest to come up with this hint. Honest. . .

Heloise

Dear Heloise:

When making the flour-water mixture for thickenings, use hot tap water and beat with a fork. The lumps disappear like magic.

Doris Bradshaw

Dear Heloise:

During cool weather months we have been caught away from home without a sweater or jacket on unexpected cool evenings.

Now I keep a light wrap for each member of the family in a plastic bag in the trunk of our car. It has saved us from many a chill.

J.

Dear Heloise:

Want to make a hit with bird families with little trouble and no expense?

Remove the pulp from your breakfast grapefruit shell. Puncture two holes half an inch from the top on opposite sides and thread with strong cord to make a hanging basket. Pack tightly with a mixture of bread crumbs, etc., and suspend from a tree branch or roof overhang.

Be sure to store an extra shell in your refrigerator as a ready replacement for you'll need it in a couple of weeks!

Birds love it.

Roberta Schlachter

Dear Heloise:

In regard to a recent question about squeaky shoes, I take mine to a repairman who separated the outer sole from the inner one. He opened it about two inches—along one side—then put talcum powder between the two soles and sewed them together again.

HARDWOOD HIGHLIGHTS

By FRANK PUCKETT Jr., BANNER SPORTS EDITOR

Cloverdale head basketball coach Al Tucker had his hands full Tuesday when Bainbridge visited the Clover gymnasium, but he handled the situation real well by taking not one victory, but two.

Assistant coach Bob Holman, a real favorite with the Cloverdale student body, reported to school Monday morning ill and hasn't been back since. So Tucker took the job of coaching not only the varsity, but the reserve team against Bainbridge and won both games.

Holman entered the Putnam County Hospital Monday and was then transferred to Terre Haute's Union Hospital for tests and observations that will take three or four days. Under Holman the reserves have won five games and lost only to Cascade. They beat Bainbridge 53-40.

The Outja board is supporting a hearty 6-1 record after calling the shots at Cloverdale Tuesday, even though it's matriculation was off base and give the nod to Bainbridge, and has come up with some disputable prognostications for the coming week-end.

The board signified victories for Bainbridge and Cloverdale. The Pointers travel to Monrovia where they trounced their hosts at Bainbridge last year, 86-28 and Cloverdale hosts county foe Reelsville who has been up and down with a 3-2 record.

The other two Friday night contests weren't so easy as the board finally moved to a victory for Fillmore over Roachdale and Russellville over North Salem. The Cards are 2-2 the same as the Hawks, but have won their last two games while Roachdale has dropped theirs. Russellville met their first defeat of the season Friday night when Paris, Illinois thumped them 74-49. They were 5-0 while North Salem has been beaten by Reelsville and most recently Cascade and stand 2-4.

Saturday night action includes Fillmore at Danville and Greencastle at Martinsville. This is the first year the Cardinals have scheduled Danville and the board goes to the larger school. Outja's prediction for the Greencastle game goes to the Artesians.

Although the board is usually right, and I have to go along with most of the selections, the latter one bothers me. Martinsville stands 2-0, beating Indianapolis Warren Central and Rushville. The Cubs are 2-1 with a one point loss to Attica in their opener.

Cublets remain undefeated

Greencastle's Tiger Cublets did it again last night when the freshmen and eighth graders both won their fourth game of the season by defeating Martinsville 43-39, and 36-29.

Scott, Thomas and Ross led the undefeated frosh with 10, 9, and 8 points respectively. The game was a close one until the Cublets out scored their host 15-7 in the final period.

The eighth graders finally pulled theirs out of the hat by hitting the Artesians with a hustling man-to-man press. Swearingen unloaded for 19 points in the game.

Both teams will take their 4-0 records to Cloverdale December 7.

Ole Miss holds consecutive whitewash victories over Louisiana State University. The Bengals 23-0 and 17-0 in games at Jackson and Baton Rouge.

DAILY TV GUIDE

TELEVISION IN REVIEW

By RICK DU BROW

HOLLYWOOD UPI — ABC-TV will kick off what amounts to a small festival of Truman Capote television programs starting next week.

On Thursday, the noted author and party-thriller will be interviewed at his Bridgehampton, N. Y., home on the network's "Good Company" series, for which attorney F. Lee Bailey is the host.

"The conversation between Bailey and Capote," says ABC-TV, "is expected to range from the author's best selling 'In Cold Blood' to his masked ball, which is probably the decade's most discussed social event."

On Dec. 17, meanwhile, the network will offer a one-hour adaptation of a Capote story, "Among the Paths to Eden," published in 1960.

It concerns a lonely, 40-ish spinster and an accountant who still regrets never having finished law school. And, as ABC-TV summarizes the content:

"They meet and play out their not-quite love story entirely in a cemetery, where new life stirs in a setting of old memories."

The stars of this adaptation are Martin Balsam and Maureen Stapleton.

On Dec. 18, two days after the presentation of "Among the Paths to Eden," ABC-TV will offer a rebroadcast of last season's beautiful Capote story, "A Christmas Memory," which he narrated.

This hour, about a lonely, eccentric woman Geraldine Page and a small boy who are gentle conspirators against the grownup world in an Alabama country town, was an autobiographical childhood reminiscence. And it deservedly won numerous honors.

ABC-TV has also announced that yet another adaptation of a Capote sort story, "Miriam," will be broadcast.

One wonders whether ABC-TV will take the next logical step: Asking Capote to adapt his novel "Breakfast at Tiffany's" for television. It has been a passable movie and a disastrous stage musical. But many believe this beautiful little book will someday be regarded as the American novel of the 1950s, just as "Catcher in the Rye" was to the 1940s and "The Great Gatsby" was to the 1920s. And it simply hasn't been done justice yet in dramatic form.

I've had no further squeaky trouble with my shoes.

Dear Heloise:
I am the mother of seven children. Their ages range from 17 down to 2 years old. I decided long ago when the older children had the various childhood diseases to keep a record of them that would not get lost. So I noted the month and year of each sickness on the back of that child's birth certificate.

I keep each birth certificate in a large envelope with the
